FOREWORD.

The Pennsylvania Department of Labor and Industry was created by Act of Assembly at its session of 1913, and the measure was approved on June 2nd by Governor John K. Tener. This Department was established for the purpose of taking over the duties of the Factory Inspector, and performing various additional services assigned to it under the terms of its creation and newly passed labor or inspection laws.

The Organization at present existing includes a number of sub-divisions, such as the Bureau of Inspection, which is the part of the Department to which is delegated the particular responsibility of aiding employes and employers to make all rooms, buildings and places where "labor is employed" to "be so constructed, equipped and arranged, operated and conducted" ..... "so as to provide reasonable and adequate protection for the life, health, safety and morals of all persons employed therein;" the Bureau of Statistics, which gathers and publishes statistics with regard to conditions of labor, productions, wages, aliens, unemployment and other information which may be of use to both employes and employers in the industry, (see portion of the law creating the Department on following pages); the Bureau of Mediation and Arbitration, which is charged with the duty of endeavoring to have labor differences settled promptly and with as little loss as possible through the process of mediation, arbitration, or such other method as may be found available; the Board of Hygiene and Engineering, which investigates and studies conditions of labor and industry, more particularly with reference to developing methods tending to safety and health in places where people labor, and publishes the results thereof; the Division of Accidents Reports, which receives and cares for the thousands of accident reports transmitted to the Department to be used for investigation by the Bureau of Inspection and for tabulation and study by the Bureau of Statistics—the object being to reduce the re-occurrence of accidents through a knowledge of how they have occurred, and also to form a basis for the creation of proper compensation rates when a compensation law is adopted in this State; the Legal Division, which has to do with interpretation of the labor and other laws, the enforcement of which is a duty of the Department, and has charge of all litigation in regard thereto; the Division of Immigrants, which, as a part of the Bureau of Statistics, gives special attention to the conditions of the foreigner; and the Executive Division which has charge of the Department finances and other activities of a character not assigned to any one of the internal divisions or bureaus named above. The last division named is at present making a study of methods for reducing "unemployment" and is perfecting methods whereby boys and girls, between fourteen and sixteen years of age, must be found by a physician to be physically qualified for their work before they may be employed.

The State Industrial Board is also a branch of the Department. The principal duty of this Board is "to make, alter, amend, and repeal general rules and regulations necessary for applying"..... "the provisions of all the laws of this Commonwealth, the enforcement of which is.....imposed upon the Commissioner or Department of Labor and Industry,"....." to specific conditions, and to prescribe means, methods, and practices to carry into effect and enforce such provisions." The Board is also empowered to make investigations concerning labor and industry.

Insomuch as this Department was particularly created for the purpose of being of service to labor and industry, naturally its first important duty was to obtain lists of establishments in which labor was employed; lists of organizations of labor and lists of organizations of those employing labor or dealing with it to a large extent. Such tabulation as this naturally is essential in order that information gained by the Department in its studies may be distributed to those to whom it would be particularly valuable, and also in order that the Bureau of Inspection may reach through its Inspectors places needing personal advice or attention.

The undertaking, although possibly on the surface seeming to be a small one, was, as a matter of fact, of quite large magnitude, insomuch as no previous directory of this character has been issued by the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and all existing private directories or other lists existing in the archives of the State were either partial or unfitted for the purposes in question. The work was properly assigned to the Bureau of Statistics of the Department and was placed under the direct charge of Mr. Alfred R. Houck, Chief of that Bureau. Mr. Houck and his staff have undoubtedly performed a most useful task, not only for the Department itself, but for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and I desire to take this opportunity to publicly express my appreciation to Mr. Houck of his ability and energy in pushing forward this and much other work that he has in hand, with the help of a staff inadequate in size, to such a satisfactory conclusion.

With the hope that those who receive the Directory may find it of material value in their business and that the time and effort expended thereon may return large interest to the employers and employes of the Commonwealth, this volume is submitted.

JOHN PRICE JACKSON,
Commissioner of Labor and Industry.

LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL.

Harrisburg, July 1st, 1914.

Honorable John Price Jackson,

Commissioner of Labor and Industry, Harrisburg, Pa.

Sir: I herewith transmit the first Industrial Directory of the State of Pennsylvania, compiled under your direction, to meet a demand both within and without the Commonwealth for a convenient list of the Industries of Pennsylvania. From the telephone books, as a source, we made two canvasses of this State by mail. Those not having telephones, also those who in the press of business answered neither of our requests unfortunately are not included. In this connection we would be pleased to learn of any omissions to enable us to include them in our next issue.

In arranging the establishments to be used and those excluded, we adopted the basis used by the U. S. Bureau of the Census of Manufacturers, for the year 1910, and excluded the following classes of establishments:

First: Establishments doing work only to the order of the individual customer, such as custom tailoring, dress making, millinery, and shoemaking establishments, the aim being to confine the directory to establishments producing for the general or wholesale trade. Of course, this rule did not apply to large concerns, such as machine shops making machinery to special order.

Second: Establishments engaged in the so-called neighborhood industries and hand trades, such as black-smithing, harness-making, and tinsmithing, in which little, if any power machinery is used, and which usually do only a local business.

In classifying these industries by product, we adopted the classification as given by the management to our inquiry, and not in detail as to the several articles produced.

We wish to say that it has been a source of satisfaction to testify to the earnest, hearty spirit of co-operation shown by all from whom we were seeking information, and we feel as we become better acquainted, and our work better understood, the results accruing to both employer and employee, and the State at large, will be of the greatest possible benefit.

ALFRED R. HOUCK,

Section 11. The Bureau of Statistics and Information shall be under the immediate charge of a chief of the Bureau, subject to the direction and supervision of the Commissioner of Labor and Industry. There shall also be in the office of said Bureau an assistant; one statistician; one filing clerk; one copying clerk; and three collectors of statistics. It shall be the duty of said Bureau to keep in touch with labor in the Commonwealth, especially in relation to the commercial, industrial, physical, educational, social, moral and sanitary conditions of wage earners of the Commonwealth, and to the productive industries thereof; also to collect, assort, publish, and systematize the details and general information regarding industrial accidents and occupational diseases, their causes and effects, and the methods of preventing and remedying the same, and in providing compensation therefor; also, to make inquiry and investigate into the condition, welfare, and industrial opportunities of all aliens arriving and being within the State, and to gather information with respect to the supply of labor afforded by aliens, and ascertain the occupations for which aliens may be best adapted, and to bring about communication between the aliens and the several industries requiring labor; and to collect, assort, and publish statistical details and general information relative thereto.

The chief, or duly authorized deputy, shall have power to issue subpoenas, administer oaths, and take testimony in all matters relating to the duties herein required of said Bureau. Any corporation, firm, or individual doing business within the Commonwealth, who shall neglect or refuse for thirty days to answer questions by circular or upon personal application, or who shall refuse to obey the subpoena and give testimony according to the provisions of this Act, shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars, to be collected by the order of the Commissioner of Statistics in an action of debt, in which the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania shall be plaintiff. This Bureau shall also be required to collect, compile, and publish annually, the productive statistics of manufacturing, commercial, and other business interest of the State.
